Dear Mr. Haddrill.

I see from reading the newspapers that your Council is considering the possibility of allowing companies to stop producing hard copies of their annual reports and accounts.

I must make it clear that I am violently opposed to such a possibility. Private investors in the shares of publicly-quoted companies are already getting less and less information. Furthermore, we are not all able to use a computer which you regard as an acceptable alternative means of communication.

Yours sincerely,

I. M. Rosselli
